Huntsville, AL (June 14, 2011) – A new cozy and inviting coffee shop opened at Bridge Street last week. Café 153 is located on the North end of the Centre across from the Chocolate Crocodile. They sell fresh roasted coffee, pastries and other treats. They have a 2nd store located in Madison.

The Heritage Club, Altar'd State and Soma Intimates all opened at Bridge Street Town Centre over the past few months and Sephora is under construction and scheduled to open early July. With a combined Toys R Us/ Babies R Us store scheduled to open later this year, the Centre will be over 90% leased.

With same store sales up in 2010, this comes as no surprise to Bridge Street Town Centre General Manager, Rochelle Allgood, "In 2010, we saw our traffic counts increase and stores reported revenues better than the National average. Huntsville is starting to rebound from the recent economic woes and retailers want to be where the customers are, that is why they continue to look at Bridge Street as the premier address in North Alabama," she said. "We are very excited to have these new store offerings for our customers and we think they will be very pleased with all that we have planned for the future."
